Gastro-genius Heston Blumenthal shills for the SousVide Supreme

Supplier: SousVide Australia 15 June, 2012

If Obama is doing whirlwind tours around the US in the name of health care reform, then the affable three-Michelin-star, molecular gastro-chef Heston Blumenthal of England's The Fat Duck is going city to city with a similar, singular passion for tender meat.

Specifically, he's shilling for the SousVide Supreme, a new appliance intended to bring the gentle art of sous vide cooking to the home cook.

Blumenthal - along with the American founders of the company, Dr Mary Dan and Michael Eades - spent a day at the CCA in SF, touting the merits of water oven cooking for everyone from professional chefs to Suzy Homemaker.

You've been to Seattle, Vancouver and today you leave for Chicago. Will you be eating anywhere on this trip but the airplane?

We're going to Momotoku in New York.

Have you had a chance to eat anywhere in SF?

The ultimate solution to your linen deliveries?

Supplier: Advance Equipment

08 March, 2013

Advance Equipment's Tall Boy Trolleys are the perfect solution for delivering clean linen and collecting soiled linen to and from commercial laundries, hospitals, retirement villages, aged care centres, resorts, motels and other many other facilities where high linen usage is available.

The Tall Boy Trolley range is a very tough and durable roto moulded plastic capsule mounted on heavy duty steel base plate with 150mm blue rubber castors which will stand the harsh treatment given by its operators.

Several features such as 'ergonomically designed' and 'easy to clean' combined with industry leading quality prove our Tall Boy Trolleys are the ultimate when handling linen.

This innovative tough plastic range also has an additional coil spring rising base as a backing saving ergonomic device to eliminate the need for workers to bend repetitively when loading or unloading at the risk of costly back strain.

Options include vinyl covers, shelving, company logo/colour and customised castor configuration. We can customise these trolleys as you desire

With trusted clients such as Alcoa, Princes and Ensign Services, it is no wonder our Tall Boy
